

Connect4Learning®: The Pre-K Curriculum

Distance Learning Guidance: COVID-19 Professional Development Offerings

To support teachers implementing Connect4Learning during the disruption caused by COVID-19, Kaplan Early Learning Company offers several online learning opportunities.

- Within the Connect4Learning portal, subscribers can access online learning modules for each of the six curriculum units. The modules provide an engaging and interactive overview of the major concepts covered, as well as teaching tips for each unit.
- Intended for programs that have already had in-person implementation training, we offer a two-part online implementation training designed to get new teachers who've joined your team up-to-speed quickly and cost effectively. Available for a per-person fee, it provides a solid theoretical overview to the curriculum's interdisciplinary approach.

For more information on online implementation training or to explore other virtual professional development delivery options during this disruption call 1-800-334-2014, ext. 3252 or email connect4learning@kaplanco.com.

In addition, Kaplan Early Learning Company offers Quorum Online Professional Learning, a membership program that provides affordable, high-quality, online professional development that is curriculum agnostic. Group Memberships are available for groups of eleven or more people. A Membership Reporting and Administrator license (which does not include course content) provides access to track and report on staff course completions, certificates, action plans and analytics.

Also, in partnership with edWeb, Kaplan Early Learning Company and Gryphon House, Inc. offer free professional learning communities that help early childhood educators connect with thought leaders in the field. Register to join – it's free:
